This little pamphlet is the work and contribution of a few friends. Being intended as a pleasant surprise to the Board of Regents, and not therefore revised by its officers, the lists of names of members of the Board of Lady Visitors and of the Advisory Board, and of donations, etc., are not full and accurate. ANNOUNCEMENT

— OF —

The Kentucky Infirmary for Women & Children.

ITS AIMS AND OBJECTS.

While the medical history and detailed statistics of special hospitals are replete, it is to be much regretted that secular and religious literature are so lamentably deficient, in that peculiar kind of information which is of such vital interest to the public generally and particularly philanthropic Christian people. Yet such seeming indifference is not wholly due to selfish unconcernedness on the part of the people, but more to an abiding confidence in the ability and vigilance of the medical profession, which lulls them into a quiet feeling of security.

However necessary this information may be deemed, an attempt to impart or illustrate the significant importance of such a knowledge in this limited space would be fruitless, notwithstanding this subject appertains directly or indirectly to the interest and welfare of every human being.

The necessity of hospitals for the exclusive treatment of diseases peculiar to women has increased to such an appalling extent as to render them indispensable in every community, and the superiority of these institutions over mixed or general hospitals has been long ago clearly demonstrated by actual experience. The gratifying success of lying-in hospitals is so universal that there is not a shadow of doubt entertained by any thinking person as to their unprecedented usefulness.

The infection and fatality of that much dreaded disease, puerperal fever, is, and has always been, apprehended, not alone by physicians, but by all women who are approaching the crisis of child-birth. Imagine the utter consternation and horror of a woman when ushered into a mixed or general hospital, whose lying-in wards are rife with this contagion; and beholds a large per cent. of the patients confined there falling victims to the fearful ravages of that fever, and perhaps this very contagion originated in the erysipelas wards of this hospital. Thus doomed and exposed, without a single prospect of escape, where is she to go? and what is she to do other than submit to her horrible fate?

This objection to general hospitals for lying-in women stands paramount, and is one of the strongest and most efficient appeals that could be made in favor of a lying-in hospital where, by strict regulations, this disease could to some extent be prevented.

The very favorable results of the systematized management of these special institutions everywhere are laudable and extremely encouraging. Besides the quiet seclusion of a woman's hospital, there are other advantages, such as well-trained female nurses and attendants.

Impressed and influenced by the above facts a few charitable persons, feeling the great responsibility resting upon them as a Christian people, came together and framed a charter, which was incorporated March 11, 1876, by the Legislature of the State, bearing the title of The Kentucky Infirmary for Women and Children. A Board of Regents was then organized, with its honorary members; a competent medical staff was selected, a Board of thirty Lady Visitors, and an Advisory Board were selected by the Board of Regents. A suitable building was secured on the north-east corner of Eleventh and Green streets, and furnished in a comfortable and becoming manner by the Board of Lady Visitors, the dispensary department well supplied with medicines, etc., and on the twenty-second day of May, A. D. 1876, The Kentucky Infirmary for Women and Children was formally opened with the following dedicatory exercises:

Music, by Professor Eichorn's Orchestra Band.

Invocation, by Rev. W. C. Mathews, D. D.

Origin and aims of Infirmary, by Rev. J. Jones, D. D., Secretary and Treasurer of the Board of Regents.

Reading original poem, by Professor H. B. Parsons.

Address, by Col. Thomas W. Bullitt.

Dedicatory prayer, by Rev. E. P. Humphrey, D. D.

Benediction, by Rev. Mr. Simpson.

Closed with music from Prof. Eichorn's Orchestra Band.

From that day, long to be remembered by the participants on that occasion, this institution has been doing a great and noble work. One thousand patients were treated during the first six months, including out-door or dispensary patients, four children born in the lying-in department, and a number of surgical cases, as follows:

A girl, from the State, twenty years old, and epileptic from childhood, caused by a fracture of the skull. The depressed bone was removed by trephining. The patient made a good recovery from the operation, and when discharged the frequency and duration of the attacks were very much mitigated, with a prospect of final recovery.

A case of vesico-vaginal fistula of twenty years standing was relieved by an operation.

A case of congenital imperforate anus and recto-vaginal fistula, the only outlet to the rectum, in a girl fourteen years of age, was also relieved by an operation.

The following cases are under treatment:

A case from the State of vesico-vaginal fistula and lacerated perinæum, resulting from confinement.

Two cases of recto-vaginal fistula.

One case of ruptured perinæum.

One case, from the State, of contracted and ankylosed knee.

Four cases of spinal curvature. One uterine polypus removed. Two cases of hip-joint disease, and a number of other cases of minor importance.

The eye and ear department has been well represented by a number of interesting cases. A great number of uterine cases have been and are being treated. A bright little waif, a girl child, eighteen months old, was brought to the infirmary sick, by a strange woman; she has fully recovered, and is indeed an interesting child, and has now won the affection of the inmates and visitors.

It is necessary to mention here that this is the only charitable institution in the city which will admit patients or inmates from the State at large.

The aims of this infirmary are, to relieve, free of charge, such of suffering humanity as may come under its regulations. The public wards are opened exclusively to women suffering from diseases peculiar to their sex, maimed and deformed children, and for pregnant women. There is a lying-in department, an eye and ear department, and a foundling department in this institution.

Patients who are able to visit and return to their homes are treated in the out-door, or dispensary department, which is open daily. The following Dental staff has been appointed by the Board of Regents to attend the dispensary daily from 3½ to 5½ p. m.: B. Oscar Doyle, D. D. S.; Chas. E. Dunn, D. D. S.; W. G. Redman, D. D. S., M. D.; W. H. Goddard, D. D. S.; C. G. Edwards, D. D. S. Visiting patients at their homes is entirely optional with the medical staff.

Distinct and separate from the charity departments of this infirmary there are private accommodations for all female patients or children who are able to pay for their board, medicines, physicians' fees, etc. These rooms are situated in a private and most desirable part of the building. The surrounding outlook is charming to the eye, the interior arrangements of the rooms are home like and comfortable, with every convenience and comfort of a private dwelling, the fees are moderate and graded to suit the demands of patients, and meals are served in the rooms, if it is required. Any extras will be promptly furnished at cost prices by applying to the matron.

The patient can select any physician she may desire. The nurses and attendants are all females, carefully selected, and well instructed. The private department of this infirmary will be conducted with strict discipline, and entirely divested of every appearance of a hospital.

RECAPITULATION.

The Kentucky Infirmary for Women and Children, chartered by the State of Kentucky, is the first woman's hospital established south of the Ohio river, and the only charitable institution in the city of Louisville which will receive patients from the State at large.

The charity, or public, wards are open only to females suffering from diseases peculiar to their sex, maimed and deformed children.

The foundling department is open to abandoned infants.

The dispensary, or out-door, department is open daily for the treatment of all sick women and children free.

The private, or pay, department is fitted up for the accommodation of women and children suffering from all manner of non-contagious diseases, and for invalids, convalescents, etc.

All private, or pay patients, can select any physician they may desire.
